Spectrum Connections Therapy
Services for Individuals, Couples, & Families.

---

Spectrum Connections Therapy, PLLC is a small group private practice comprised of passionate neurodiversity-affirming and trauma-informed therapists. We're a group of affirming therapists that value creating healthy connections through evidence-based relational and behavioral therapy approaches. We're passionate about helping therapists grow and develop, with a particular focus on Acceptance & Commitment Therapy, Neurodivergent Couples & Family Therapy, Exposure & Response Prevention Therapy, Neurodivergent Parenting, and Trauma Healing.

About the position: We're looking to add one more therapist to our team! This is an independent contractor position that offers flexible scheduling.

This is a 1099 position (5-15 client hours) that has the opportunity to grow to more hours, plus the additional time dedicated to notes, case planning, group and individual consultation, supervision, and professional development. The work schedule will be determined by you and office availability and will preferably include a mixture of days and early evenings. Weekend scheduling is also available. Therapists will be allowed to see clients both virtually and in-person at our two office spaces (in South Denver and Denver Tech Center). Pay is dependent on experience and ranges from $70-120 per session. The rate is negotiable as you continue to grow within our practice and gain more experience. Let's connect if you are someone who:

- Is passionate about providing neurodiversity-affirming and trauma-informed care
- Wants flexibility in scheduling and responsibility for creating own work schedule
- Is an independent therapist who also finds value in community connections and finds value in engaging in constant learning, growth, and personal/professional development as a therapist
- Is skilled in schedule and time management, can write effective treatment plans and progress notes
- Possesses effective written communication skills, and adapts well to change and growth
- Values collaboration and also self-growth as a therapist

Professional Requirements:

- Master's Degree or Doctoral Degree in Psychology, Marriage and Family Therapy, Counseling, Clinical Social Work, Behavior Analysis or related mental health field from an accredited university
- Colorado Licensure (LP, LMFT, LCSW, LPC, BCBA strongly preferred) or pre-licensure status (MFTC, LP Candidate, LSW, LPCC, BCaBA), currently working with an outside clinical supervisor
- Minimum of 3 years of experience as a mental health therapist and/or behavior analyst
- Is experienced in working with clients from a relational and behavioral lens
- This position is a true independent contractor position, meaning the individual has their own agency/organization from which they operate from. This position is best suited for therapists who would like to work independently as a contractor, have other independent contractor positions, while also being part of a group practice community rather than working entirely on their own
- Growing into a full-time or part-time W-2 employee is a potential possibility over time
